ME, MYSELF & I

You could call me a heavy consumer of pop culture, and I have way too much useless information in my head. I love listening to music, as well as watching movies and sports. Some of my hobbies include playing Nintendo, golf, tennis, ping pong, and making a fool of myself on a skateboard. But most of all, I especially love hanging out with my wife and friends. I am also an aspiring rock star with no musical talent.
